

PRaises Wilson for Averting Rail Strike

P. A. Sugrue Says Democracy Has Legislated for the Masses.

"Of the three great strikes in the history of the United States, only one was settled without bloodshed, and that through the wisdom and statesmanship of President Wilson," said P. A. Sugrue, of the Wilson Eight-Hour League, at a rally in the headquarters of the Women's Union last night.

The momentous strikes in the nation's history were given as the strike against King George, the strike against Abraham Lincoln, and the strike for industrial liberty. The latter uprising, heralded by the railroad brotherhoods, as settled by President Wilson without a loss of a life or the shedding of one drop of labor's blood, said the speaker.

It was labor's night at the Women's headquarters, and members of organized labor furnished the speakers and the bulk of the audience.

Speakers included Teddy McHeld, of the International Brick, Tile and Terra Cotta Workers' Alliance; John Higgins, of the Machinists' Union; Andrew J. Kimmel, Assessor Edward Oyster, and John Hartley, of the Wilson Eight-Hour League.

Railroads said that union labor had been fighting for humanitarian laws for sixteen years and only secured them with the advent of President Wilson. "In legislating laws for the masses are desirable and must be considered," he said. "Wilson has been the first man to recognize the masses. That is why organized labor supports him; not because he is a Democrat or a Republican or a Socialist, but because he is a red-blooded, honest, sincere American with a full appreciation of the high office to serve all of the people."

"Only three persons object to the Adamson eight-hour law. They are Hughes, Rockefeller, and J. Pierpont Morgan," he said, "and it would be impossible to write a labor law that would please them."

"MARRYING PARSON" WEDS 52 IN MONTH

Rev. Howard F. Downs, of Wesley Chapel, Holds October Record.

To Rev. Howard F. Downs, of 503 Third street northwest, goes the honors for the month of October for increasing the married population of the country.

On twenty-six occasions Rev. Mr. Downs, of Wesley Chapel, was the principal in ceremonies that gave women the right to the title of "Mrs." and the same number of men the duty of providing in the future for others than themselves.

"I presume it is my proximity to City Hall that causes me to wed more couples than other clergymen," said Mr. Downs yesterday. "Not a few couples like to be married quietly, and they turn from the marriage license office to the nearest parsonage. My home had been a parsonage for many years before I occupied it, which may account for the number that turn in this direction."

Reminded that most of the out-of-town "securing licenses invariably seek the knot," Rev. Mr. Downs said that of Virginia and Maryland, he largely Methodists accordingly.

nothing, except whatever can afford to give."

MILK MEN DRAFTING NEW PRICE SCHEDULE

Producers Agree to 25-Cent Rate on 4 Per Cent Butter Fat Basis.

The executive committee of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Dealers' Association is drawing up a new plan for submission to the retail milk dealers of Washington.

Y. E. Booker, business manager of the association, announced yesterday that the demand of the dealers for 21 cents a gallon had been agreed to by a number of the dealers with the understanding that the milk would show 4 per cent butter fat. As much of the milk only comes to the health office requirement of 3 1/2 per cent butter fat, another proposition is being framed to provide for different grades of milk.

It is not known yet whether the producers will insist on their 24-cent price and attempt to raise the standard of the individual producers or will accept the 24-cent price for 4 per cent milk and accept another scale for the lower grades.

The 24-cent milk proposition provides for a maximum charge of 24 cents a gallon wholesale and a minimum charge of 18 cents, divided according to seasons of the year.

The last proposition made to the dealers was as follows: October to March, 24 cents; May to August, 18 cents, and September, 20 cents a gallon.

"These figures are not a mere guess," said Chairman Woods. "They constitute a summary of the final reports made to this committee to date, by hundreds of careful, experienced workers."

SAYS SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS LACK FACTS

Speaker Tells Association Instruction in Scriptures Is Essential.

All Sunday school teachers should attend a special school for instruction in the Scriptures, according to Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, of the International Sunday School Association, who spoke last night at the session of the District Sunday School Association.

Mrs. Bryner said that too many teachers know little of the subject which they teach. She said that the best part of the work of the teacher is done outside the school by association with the students.

Election of officers of the local association will be held after the night session tomorrow, after which the convention will adjourn until the last three days of October next year.

At yesterday's meeting officers were elected for the home department, Mrs. Charles S. Hyer being chosen president; Miss Della Miller, vice president; Mrs. Alvin T. Tracy, recording secretary; Mrs. Jefferson Middleton, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Calvin T. Millars, treasurer.

RESULTS SURELY VERY WONDERFUL

John T. Taylor, 122 "C" Street N. W., Relates How Plant Juice Benefited His Wife.

When one neglects their condition and suffers from headaches, backache, dizziness, poor circulation, unsound sleep or constipation, it is well to remember that these symptoms of stomach trouble are bound to lead to more serious trouble. Give your stomach a chance to make good; help it, so that you may again know the feeling of real health; again have that vim, energy and vigor, clean tongue, sweet breath, good complexion, and be able to eat the food you crave without fear of the consequences. The new stomach remedy, Plant Juice, now being introduced here, will assist that much-abused organ, the stomach, to accomplish these results.

Many Washington people are daily testifying that they have regained their health by the use of Plant Juice. One of the most recent signed statements received is that of Mr. John T. Taylor, who tells how his wife suffered for years with stomach trouble, and was relieved by Plant Juice. Mr. Taylor resides at No. 122 C street northwest, and has been a resident of this city for many years. He said:

"My wife has suffered for over a year with rheumatism and neuralgia. Words cannot describe the constant agony she was in, and could never get any medicine to give her any relief until she began to take Plant Juice. She had constant headaches, and the most excruciating pains; could never get a good night's sleep and got so weak that we became greatly alarmed about her. Plant Juice gave her almost instant relief, and now she is in such good condition that she is able to eat any kind of food; she has not a trace of rheumatism in her system, and is able to get a good night's sleep. I feel confident that Plant Juice will wonder the results she obtained."

The Plant Juice Man is at The People's Drug Store, corner of 7th and E streets N. W., where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Adv.

WILLIAM H. HAMILTON IN CONGRESS BATTLE

Capital Attorney Prominent in Virginia Political Race.

William H. Hamilton

William H. Hamilton, a Republican, is stirring up things in the Eighth district of Virginia, a Democratic stronghold, where he is not only opposing the Democratic and Socialist candidates for Representative in Congress, but is also waging a battle against another Republican candidate for the same office, Joseph L. Krupper.

Krupper was nominated by a convention of Republican leaders. Hamilton claims that the nomination was not according to law. Falling in an attempt to get the Republic to hold primaries, a petition was circulated and Hamilton's name was placed on the ballot. The law does not permit two names on the same ticket, and his name was entered as an independent. On his cards and all campaign literature he is advertised as a Republican.

"The Virginia primary law says candidates shall be nominated in open primary elections," says Hamilton. "The same old machine slipped one over on us this election by agreeing to hold primaries where the best man could win and by then holding their 'rump' convention in the same old style, nominating their man, getting him on the ballot, and then refusing to consent to the primaries. But the worm has turned. The young blood of Virginia is waking up and real times to agree to such methods."

The Eighth district has always been overwhelmingly Democratic. Representative Charles C. Carlin is the Democratic nominee, running for re-election. Hamilton, who is a business man, with offices in Washington, says there is a rising sentiment in the district in favor of a change.

BIG AUDIENCE GREET KREISLER AT NATIONAL

Famous Violinist Serves as Soloist for Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra, Dr. Karl Muck conducting, gave its first concert of the season yesterday afternoon at the National Theater. There was a large and representative audience present, and many, unable to get seats, stood during the concert.

The soloist of the occasion was Fritz Kreisler, who played Ernest Schelling's new concerto, written for the violinist last July. The opening passages of the concerto are extremely effective and original, the harmony is rich, and the theme for the violin quaint and lovely. The concerto does not lack variety, for in it are included several themes from Mr. Schelling's former compositions, a vivo movement which recalls a Scottish jig, and folk song themes of different countries, these last a never-failing source of inspiration.

Mr. Kreisler played with his usual depth of feeling and emotional appeal. Always lofty and spiritual in quality, his work is a revelation of his high ideals. After the concerto Mr. Kreisler was recalled by the audience many times.

The orchestra gave an excellent interpretation of Schumann's symphony in E flat major, called "Rhenish," because it is supposed to portray the composer's impressions of life in the Rhineland.

The symphony was played in five movements, the first two full of liveliness and vigor. The third movement is quiet and thoughtful in character, with an appealing melody, while the fourth represents a religious ceremony, and the music is solemn and majestic in character. The finale is vigorous and joyous, with the religious motive reappearing at intervals. The overture to "The Corsair," a short but dramatic composition, was rendered impressively by the orchestra, and the concert closed with the presentation of Brahms' "Academic Festival" overture. This piece was written by the composer as an expression of gratitude to the University of Breslau, which had conferred a degree upon him. It abounds with jolly student songs, and was played by the orchestra with a spirit of enthusiasm which the audience applauded warmly.

POLICE BAR CRIPPLED BEGGARS FROM STREET

Abuse of Privilege Causes Authorities to Put End to Practice.

It will be a long time before the gay promenade or the bustling business man again pauses on the streets of Washington to toss a nickel in the tin cup of a blind beggar, buy a pencil of a poor cripple, or toss a coin at the veteran violin player whose desperate condition happens to halt his hasty step along F street, Ninth street or elsewhere in the downtown section.

Maj. Raymond Pullman, superintendent of police, has set the dead line for street begging in the District, and commencing this morning cripples and other misfortunates must look to organized charity, so as to relieve the city of a grave nuisance it has suffered many years.

The "honest" cripples of the District will be cared for, and it was after considering their pathetic plight long and seriously that the police decided the new regulations would actually be of benefit to them. It was with a view to driving out the "cripples" rather than the "honest" cripples that they decided to do away with street begging.

The abuse of the privilege allowed the poor misfortunates had grown to such an extent that the sympathetic passerby often went on his way with qualms of conscience rather than encourage those he suspected were practicing a deceit.

Several weeks ago members of the detective force of Central Office had their attention attracted to three men who were pretending to be horrible physical misshaps. These men were members of a gang of ten or more who would sit on the crowded streets with their limbs distorted beneath them long enough to collect the price of several drinks from sympathetic passersby. Then they would get up, walk straight as a die for the nearest saloon, and loaf there until their money was spent.

The three men who were followed by the Central Office force were arrested and charged with false pretenses. The others "blew town" as soon as they heard of the arrests, leaving Washington to some better day when suspicion had quieted down. To avoid their return the edict to stop street begging went out.

Five of Washington's real misfortunates have already applied to the District for aid in view of the new order. These have been provided for. The Associated Charities and the District Board of Charities have arranged to take care of others that come for help.

Those who have relatives in other cities who can support them will be enabled to get to their home towns, and the others will be turned over to the proper institutions.

Swollen Ankles and Feet Are Indications of Kidney Trouble

Swollen ankles and feet are forms of a droopical condition, due to disordered kidneys. Naturally when the kidneys are deranged the blood is filled with poisonous waste matter, which settles in the feet, ankles and wrists; or under the eyes in bag-like formations.

It is just as necessary to keep the kidneys acting properly as to keep the bowels active, says an eminent physician. When one is sick the first thing to be done is to thoroughly test the kidney secretions.

The very best possible way to take care of yourself is to take a little "Anurie" with the meals. In this way it is readily dissolved with the food, picked up by the blood and finally reaches the kidneys, where it has a tonic effect in rebuilding these organs.

"Anurie" was recently discovered by Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y.; it has been thoroughly tested in his laboratory as well as in his Invalids' Hotel. Everyone can quickly associate Dr. Pierce with his great herbal restorative tonic, known as an invigorator for womanly life.

A different person daily offers his or her words of praise of "Anurie." Now Mrs. John Reardon, speaks:

"For over ten years I have been bothered with a menacing kidney trouble. My back ached constantly. Had rheumatic pains through the limbs and knees. My hands and feet both puffed up in sort of a droopical way. In spite of many remedies I used I obtained no results. Just lately I read of 'Anurie' in our daily papers, so I tried the remedy. The results have been beneficial."

Simply step into the drug store and ask for a 50c package of "Anurie," or send 10c to Dr. Pierce for trial package.

In this new five passenger touring car we have topped the under-a-thousand class at every point—a little longer wheel base (114 inches), a little more power on the hills, a little more speed on the level, a lot more room, a lot more ease and comfort, infinitely more beautiful lines—in fact, a great deal more car for the money in every way.

The perfect streamline hood and cowl blend gracefully into flawless body curves, and the fashionable effect is emphasised by sloping windshield, rounded, boat-like tonneau, and a deep-toned satin finish of Pullman green and black.

The car inherits engine excellence and mechanical superiority from the amazingly popular 1916 model—refined and added to by a score of well-tested, up-to-the-minute conveniences.

It has already shattered even Pullman records for gas and oil saving, averaging 20 to 30 miles to the gallon of gas regularly. It pulls powerfully but silently. The motor is capable of more speed than most drivers want.
